Bob Boucher was a hockey player who turned to a lifetime of coaching after an eye injury shortened a pro hockey career before it ever had a chance to begin

In 1957, Boucher finished 2nd in OHL scoring to Frank Mahovlich, ahead of Bobby Hull, Stan Mikita & Bob Nevin.

More important than these statistical signs of success was his consummate passion for the development of the game. Pat Quinn stated; "Bob was instrumental in setting up our National Coaches Accreditation System, through his writings on the game and the development of the coaches' level system. He has influenced the thinking of hockey across Canada, but yet, while always the consummate teacher passing on his knowledge, he was always the student, hungry to know more of the game and those who played it".

The late Pat Connolly noted that "Bob's legacy to Nova Scotia was a quarter century of developing new and better directions for young athletes and coaches, teaching and inspiring Nova Scotia hockey players to become the best they could by sharing his knowledge and philosophies as a great communicator, passionately in love with the game".

Bob Boucher was presented with a Courage Award for the leadership and courage he demonstrated in promoting Diversity in the game of hockey. He had Afro-Canadian players Bobby Dawson & Darrell Maxwell in his 1968 lineup as well as Al Michelin an Inuit from Labrador. In 1970 Dawson and Maxwell were joined by Percy Paris and the three Afro-Canadian players appeared as one line which up until that time had not been achieved in any inter collegiate hockey league.

Boucher's lifetime CIS coaching record is 231 wins 33 losses and 4 ties, the highest Canadian university winning % of all time. In one 9-year stretch (69-77) his teams accumulated a total of only 15 losses.
